Why Phoenix?

Simply because we know our business and we do it well.

We were established in 1995 with the sole aim of designing a quality hydraulic platform lift that would help to improve "Access for All" - this has been achieved and we are now the largest UK manufacturer of platform lifts, with a broad customer base, including many trade lift companies, both here and abroad. The lift is manufactured at our own factory in the historic cathedral city of Salisbury in the South of England so we have complete control of the build process and because of this, we have the flexibility to produce non-standard lifts and of course the ability to meet short delivery timescales when the need arises.

Reliability" ... first time, every time

Which lift should I choose?

We manufacture "The Rise" and "The Utility-X"

Both of these lifts are direct acting hydraulic platforms which come complete with their own self supporting shaft (no wall fixings are necessary) so the building work required for the installation is minimal. Whether the change in level is a few steps or a few metres, either lift can provide the solution and with the ability for multiple stops and landing doors on any of the four sides of the shaft, our lifts will give you flexible choices in your design process. The lifts can be built for both internal or external applications and can be finished in a range of different colours to complement your decor. The Utility-X can also be manufactured in brushed stainless steel for those more prestigious sites.

Will the lift meet all the standards?

Rest assured, all our lifts comply with relevant standards and are CE marked.

We pride ourselves on the fact that we have undertaken rigorous testing on our lifts, and we can provide documentation from "Approved Test Houses" to confirm it. For this reason, we believe our lift is one of the safest on the market and every lift built and installed will comply fully with the following:

- Machinery Directive 2006/42/EC
- European Standard EN81-41
- Part "M" of the Building Regulations 2010
- The Disability Discrimination Act (DDA)

What's the next step?

Give us a call!

We will be please to give no obligation, expert advice, to help and guide you through the process and once the lift has been installed by one of our teams of experienced engineers, we will still be here for you offering full service and repair 24/7.
